

Dr Sarah completed her medical degree at The University of Melbourne and is a Fellow of the Royal Australian College of General Practitioners. Dr Sarah has a strong interest in skin cancer detection and treatment. She regularly performs full body dermoscopic skin checks as well as skin cancer excisions and management. Dr Sarah has undertaken additional training in Skin Cancer Medicine and Aesthetics Medicine. With a patient-centred approach, Dr Sarah focuses on preventative care and building long-term therapeutic relationships. Outside of work, Dr Sarah likes to stay active, she enjoys swimming, playing tennis and spending time outdoors.