

Dr Anne joined the Team in 2016. Originally from Glasgow, Anne has brought her contagious accent to our Team as well as her incredible knowledge of and passion for General Practice Medicine. A Fellow of the Royal Australian College of General Practitioners and Accredited Skin Cancer Doctor, she has completed a Masters degree in Skin Cancer. Now a Senior Lecturer on the UQ Masters of Medicine (Skin Cancer) program, her other major areas of interest are shared maternity care, IUDs and contraceptive implants. She remains at heart a general practitioner, and patients of any age with any health issue are assured of an attentive ear, a careful eye and an abundantly respectful approach.

MBChB, FRACGP, MMed (Skin Cancer).
